They too have a display issue, but it's a little different—each digit is a separate display in itself. Make sure you have a source for these “digits” (Cessna used the same digits). Otherwise, the radios do their job at pretty much “minimum wage.” If you need to add a comm and an audio panel, check out the new PAR200 from PS Engineering. This is the first FAA-certified audio panel with a comm and it can solve both your audio panel and comm issue with a single purchase.
